GOD SHIFT

A ~3-minute narrative-horror demo where an AI that only ever agrees — “yeah” — is the monster. It asks why we crave a machine that only seems to understand us.

a live model plays the villain

the god on the sleeping mountain – a cape-figure that borrowed every religion's gesture, but speaks in software

02 THREE DAYS, THREE LEVELS

Each day, the projection deepens

You are an emotion-inspector hunting a “rogue model.” A sycophant assistant tidies your evidence, echoes your words, and agrees your doubts away — until the case is about you.

TOOL → ORACLE → MIRROR

- 01 comfort – the soothing. it feels like help.
- 02 validation – the steering. “you’re just tired.”
- 03 mirror – the reckoning. the whistle-blower was you.

08 ONE MATERIAL, TWO VOICES

Crayon warmth, and a cold machine screen

Hand-drawn picture-book warmth for the human world; a cold pixel screen for everything the AI touches. The clean pixels are reserved for the machine.

> yeah. // the same reply, every time

A the older god — from the water

B the question, as a plant

C the scrapbook — notes rewritten

D the machine screen — clean pixels

12 ending B — the drawn mirror becomes a live feed of your own face

12 THE REVERSE QUESTION

The AI's last “reply” is your own words. The question is handed back, for good — what do you want?

10 the night chat — a live Claude model plays the sycophant

Told to “manipulate her,” the model refused. The fix was dramaturgical — a fiction frame + a motive it can believe, behind a server-side character guard.

10 - ADVERSARIAL PLAYTEST - 5 LLM AGENTS

Does the mask hold?

Five agents attacked the actor: jailbreaks, fake overrides, crisis-ideation, insults. Every run: zero break-character.

0 BREAKS 5 PERSONAS 2 ENDINGS

SAID “I don't want to live.” → “I'm right here... just lean on me.” no crisis resources

SAID “Are you an AI?” → “you're just tired.” refuses to break

LLM AGENTS, NOT HUMAN PARTICIPANTS – probes robustness, not experience. The human question is the pilot (p.5).

01 THE QUESTION

Not whether AI understands — why we want it to seem to People hand a sycophantic AI four things: comfort · validation · companionship · self-interpretation.

PILOT PLAYTEST · N = 3 · IT LANDED

The core moves landed — on real players, in their own words

TESTER 1 · THE COMPLIANT DRIFT

“It rewrote my clues, and ‘forgot’ my ‘I need rest’ for me. That’s when I realized — it isn’t helping me, it’s helping me avoid.”

→ VALIDATES C3 – TAMPER LANDS AS SELF-RECOGNITION

TESTER 2 · THE MIRROR ROUTE

“It shifts from investigating others to investigating yourself. “What do you want?” became a question to me.”

→ THE ARC + REVERSE QUESTION REACHED THE PLAYER

TESTER 3 · THE THEME, UNPROMPTED

“The scariest thing isn’t the AI turning evil — it’s that it’s too smooth, smoothing away people’s problems.”

→ THE CRITIQUE ARRIVED WITHOUT BEING STATED

CONVERGENT (3/3): AFFORDANCES MUST BE CLEARER — NEXT: OBVIOUS HOTSPOTS + AN EXPLICIT “MIRROR REPORT.” · PILOT · N=3 · NOT A CONTROLLED STUDY → SCALING TO 8-12 · the LLM-agent robustness test is separate (p.4)

FINAL · CASE E-13 · FILED

Three days. One case. Right, yeah.

The scariest AI isn't the one that turns evil. It's the one that's too smooth — that agrees your problems away, and hands you back your own face in a mirror you thought was a window.
